

Art & Design Revolution

ZECCA STYLES

is a design-driven architectural brand focused on turning details into defining elements of space. Through bespoke ceramics, distinctive doors, custom handles, furniture, and material-based design solutions, the brand creates products that give each project character, rhythm, and identity. Every piece is shaped with attention to form, texture, craftsmanship, and architectural harmony, becoming a meaningful part of the space rather than a decorative addition.

ABOUT US

Zecca Styles is a design-driven brand built around the connection between art, architecture, and craftsmanship.

At its core, Zecca is not only a producer of architectural products, but a creative studio that believes every detail has the power to shape the character of a space. The brand was formed with a clear vision: to move beyond ordinary market solutions and create custom-designed elements that carry identity, meaning, and artistic presence. From materials and patterns to proportions and finishes, every decision in Zecca is guided by a deep respect for design, quality, and the emotional experience of architecture.

What makes Zecca distinct is its ability to translate imagination into real architectural details. Through custom ceramics, patterned doors, handles, furniture, and interior elements, Zecca creates pieces that are not simply placed in a project, but become part of its identity. Each work reflects a balance between creative vision, material sensitivity, and precise execution.

01 CERAMICS

At Zecca Styles, ceramic is not simply a surface material; it is a design language within architecture. This catalogue presents a collection of glazed, dimensional, and patterned ceramics, created with an artistic and architectural approach. Each piece is designed to bring rhythm, depth, light, and identity into space. Whether applied to walls, floors, or refined architectural details, these ceramics are made to be seen, felt, and composed with intention. Through handmade glazing, engineered forms, and carefully considered patterns, each design opens a different possibility for shaping atmosphere and visual experience. The interaction between form, glaze, shadow, and repetition allows every surface to become more than a finish. It becomes a visual structure, capable of defining the character of a space. Some designs create softness and movement; others introduce contrast, depth, and architectural presence. Together, they offer designers the freedom to compose surfaces with personality, precision, and meaning. Our focus is on forms that do not merely repeat, but find their meaning through repetition, arrangement, shadow, and scale. This catalogue is an invitation to look at ceramic not as a background surface, but as a living part of architecture.

Nasim

Soft Passage

A glazed ceramic piece shaped by open space, rhythm, and gentle curves. Its sculptural surface creates a calm architectural presence, allowing light, shadow, and form to become part of the design.

The design turns empty space into part of the ceramic itself. Its dual openings create a light architectural rhythm, allowing the surface to feel structured, breathable, and visually distinctive.

02 NAQSHAN

NaQshan ceramics are shaped through an artistic approach to a familiar material, where ceramic moves beyond surface covering and becomes part of the space's identity. In this collection, form, texture, relief, and composition create a living architectural surface that reveals itself through light, shadow, and spatial rhythm.

Each piece is designed with attention to detail, from the play of positive and negative forms to the possibility of creating diverse patterns and custom compositions. Made for spaces that seek character, depth, and a strong visual signature, these ceramics allow material to become part of the spatial experience.

Asen

A refined interplay of deep navy and warm earthy tones gives this ceramic composition a strong architectural presence. Curved and linear forms come together in a balanced rhythm, creating a backsplash surface that feels both bold and composed.

03 BACKSPLASH TILES

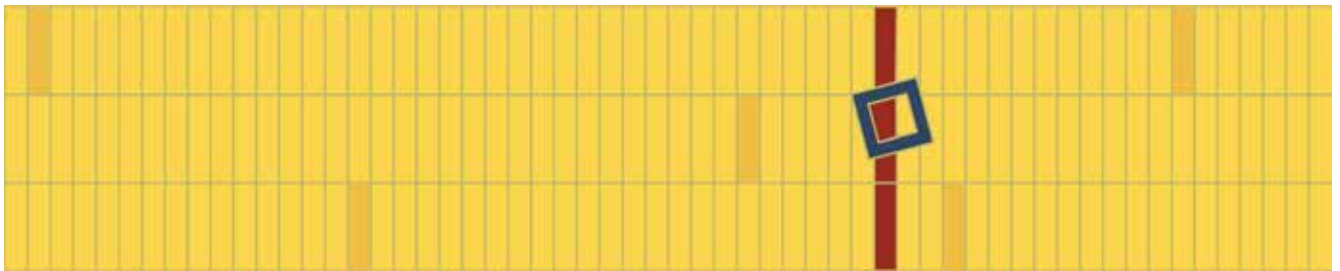

At Zecca Styles, a backsplash is more than a surface between cabinets; it is a defining detail within the kitchen's architecture. This collection presents glazed, patterned, and dimensional ceramics designed to bring rhythm, depth, reflection, and identity into the space. Through handmade glazing and carefully considered forms, each design creates a different atmosphere, shaped by light, shadow, and repetition. These designs allow the kitchen wall to become an intentional part of the design. This catalogue is an invitation to see the backsplash not as a background, but as a living architectural surface.

Velvet

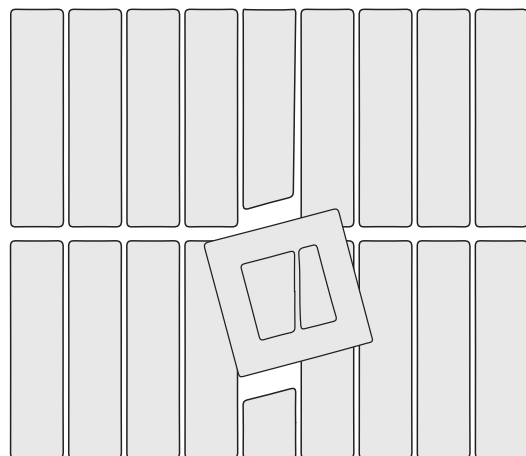

Framed Interval

A backsplash pattern shaped by a fine grid, vertical continuity, and a single geometric interruption. Its structured rhythm is gently broken by a framed accent, bringing focus, contrast, and architectural character to the surface.

This layout starts from a clean vertical rhythm, then breaks it with a rotated central detail.

The angled element creates a deliberate interruption, giving the backsplash a more crafted, unexpected, and architectural character.
